

[Independence Day]

The Declaration of Independence was written by Thomas Jefferson, who later became the third President. He had only two weeks to complete it. It is said that the Liberty Bell was rung in the morning of the announcement of the Declaration of Independence. In the Liberty Square of Philadelphia, you can see many historical things including the statue of George Washington, the first President of America.